

Social support network

Social support means having people in your life you can turn to. Who can provide you with a broader focus and help you maintain positive self-esteem. You'll have more people to turn to than you realise.

Map it out.

Draw your network, with others depicted as squares. The more important they are to you, the larger the square they belong in.

